DEPARTMENT OF ZOOLOGY Report on World Environment Day 2024

World environment day was observed on June 5th Every year world wide, for raising awareness and taking action on environmental issues. This year focused on the theme, "Restore Our Earth" emphasizing the importance of ecosystem. Our III B.Sc Zoology student, T. Jayanthi welcome the gathering. Presidential Address was delivered by Dr. R. Manika Chezhian, Principal U.C. NGM College Pollachi. Key note address was delivered by Ms. Ritika Singh Chauhan, DST Inspire Fellow, SACON, Coimbatore on "AVIAN ENDEMISM IN SHOLA SKY ISLAND". She discussed the importance of biodiversity, threat to various species, endemic birds & Conservation strategies. The Shola sky islands located in the Western Ghats of India. This ecosystem is characterized by evergreen forest into grassland & also remarkable variety of flora & fauna. It has a significant number of endemic bird species like Nilgiri wood Pigeon, white-bellied short wing, Nilgiri fly catcher, Black & orange fly catcher Nilgiri laughingthrush, Kerala laughingthrush, Avian Endemism is due to geographical isolation, Micro habitat and climate and so on. Conservation challenges are habitat loss climate change, human encroachment & invasive species. The local communication are essential to safeguard the ecological integrity of shoal island around 125 students were participated & get benefitted.

2. Report of the event:

Title of the event: "Awareness Programme on Global Tiger Day"

Date: 29.07.2024

Time: 02.00 PM to 03.00 PM

Resource Person: Mr. K. Anvar(Alumnus)

Wildlife biologist

Anamalai Tiger Reserve (ATR), Pollachi.

No. of Beneficiaries: 144 undergraduate students

Objectives:

- To highlight the importance of preserving tigers and the challenges they face
- To create awareness about tiger conservation and the various initiatives undertaken by different stakeholders
- To empower and inspire students to take individual action in conserving tigers by volunteering and raising awareness among the public

Brief Report:

The Department of Chemistry & Zoology, in collaboration with WWF-India, organized an awareness program for "Global Tiger Day 2024" to highlight the importance of preserving tigers and the challenges they face within ecosystems. On July 27th and 28th, 2024, our college students volunteered with WWF-India at four locations: Top Slip, Aliyar Check Post, Valparai Waterfalls, and Thirumoorthy Hills. They engaged the public in raising awareness by taking photos with a photobooth. Mr. Naveen, Field Officer at WWF-India, coordinated this initiative.

On July 29th at 2:00 PM, we held an awareness session for our students led by Mr. K. Anvar, a Wildlife Biologist at Anamalai Tiger Reserve (ATR), Pollachi. We are proud to note that Mr. Anvar is an alumnus of our college. He emphasized the crucial role of tigers in the ecosystem, explaining their unique characteristics. As apex predators, tigers are key indicators of the health of ecosystems. They help maintain nature's balance by controlling prey population and ensuring species diversity. Their presence is essential for forest health, which in turn supports human communities by providing clean air, water, and resources.

Mr. Anvar discussed historical poaching by royalty, where tigers were hunted for their skins and teeth, leading to their decline and endangered status. He also explained how our ancestors revered tigers, associating them with various myths. He scientifically debunked these myths and detailed the reasons behind the reduction in tiger populations. As our national animal, the tiger symbolizes strength and majesty. Therefore, it is imperative that we protect tigers to save the environment.

In his conclusion, Mr. Anwar urged everyone to unite in efforts to protect one of Earth's most iconic and endangered species. By working together, we can ensure a future where tigers roam freely in their natural habitats, enriching our planet. He encouraged us all to celebrate this day by committing to safeguarding the future of tigers and preserving the rich biodiversity of our world.

Feedback Analysis Report: Over 85% of participants gave positive feedback, indicating that the session was enlightening and highly valuable.

REPORT ON "RECENT TRENDS IN BANKING"

Department of B.Com - Banking and Insurance, NallamuthuGounderMahalingam College, Pollachi organised a Seminar programme on "Recent Trends in Banking" on 03.04.2025 in D-102. Dr. M. Jeeva, Associate Professor and Head, Department of B.Com - Banking and Insurance welcomed the gathering. Dr. R. The keynote speaker and facilitator of the programme, Mr. P. Murugesan, Financial Counselor, Federal Bank, Pollachi, provided valuable insights on the latest advancements in the banking sector, particularly with the advancement of digital banking. The reliance on physical cash transactions is decreasing and banks are encouraging customers to adopt digital operations, UPI payments, and contactless transactions, reducing the need for manual currency handling. The seminar provided an in-depth understanding of the role of digital banking and AI in modern banking operations. The discussions highlighted the importance of transitioning towards cashless transactions, enhancing digital financial services and strengthening regulatory policies to ensure ethical AI adoption. The event was well-received, with participants gaining valuable insights into the future of banking.

4. About the session:

The session on "Life Skill Enhancements" by Dr. A. Malathi was meticulously crafted to be both engaging and interactive, with the primary objective of fostering an environment where students felt comfortable, motivated, and eager to participate. The session included a diverse array of enjoyable activities designed not only to capture students' interest but also to promote active involvement and nurture a sense of freedom and openness. Each activity was thoughtfully selected to focus on enhancing vital life skills such as resilience, self-awareness, and critical thinking, thereby contributing to a well-rounded development experience.

From the outset, students were encouraged to take an active role by volunteering for various activities. This approach was intended to promote a hands-on learning experience, ensuring that every participant had the opportunity to contribute, share their unique perspectives, and engage deeply with the content. The interactive nature of the session enabled participants to apply theoretical concepts in real-time, engage in meaningful and productive discussions, and practice their newly acquired skills within a supportive and collaborative environment.

The central aim of the session was to arm students with practical tools and methods vital for making effective decisions, managing stress, and adapting to change. Through a blend of engaging activities and a strong emphasis on voluntary participation and interactive learning, the session successfully equipped students with the skills and confidence required to navigate life's challenges with enhanced resilience and self-awareness. This well-rounded approach ensured that students left with a solid skill set to support them in various facets of their personal and professional lives.

4. About the session:

The session on Emerging Threats of Cyber Security by Mr. T. Jayavishnu was both insightful and engaging, effectively capturing the students' attention and interest. The practical information shared during the session raised essential awareness about the risks and dangers of the digital world. Students were introduced to various types of cyber crimes occurring globally, many of which were previously unknown to them. This new found knowledge not only enhanced their understanding but also encouraged them to be more vigilant and cautious in their online activities. The real-life examples shared made students think more critically about their online security and motivated them to adopt safer practices in the digital world.

The session began with a striking statistics which states that in India, 93% of cybercrimes occur due to a lack of awareness. This set the stage for a comprehensive discussion on common cyber threats, including:

- Phishing scams
- Crypto jacking
- Identity theft
- Intellectual property theft

The session emphasized the importance of adopting simple yet effective strategies, such as staying informed, being aware, and using smart technology for protection. It also highlighted the need for developing a proactive cyber security mindset, both personally and collectively. The session concluded with a powerful reminder that adaptability and continuous learning are key to effectively safeguarding valuable information in an ever-evolving digital world.

4. About the session:

The session on "Life Skill Enhancements" by Dr. A. Malathi was meticulously crafted to be both engaging and interactive, with the primary objective of fostering an environment where students felt comfortable, motivated, and eager to participate. The session included a diverse array of enjoyable activities designed not only to capture students' interest but also to promote active involvement and nurture a sense of freedom and openness. Each activity was thoughtfully selected to focus on enhancing vital life skills such as resilience, self-awareness, and critical thinking, thereby contributing to a well-rounded development experience.

From the outset, students were encouraged to take an active role by volunteering for various activities. This approach was intended to promote a hands-on learning experience, ensuring that every participant had the opportunity to contribute, share their unique perspectives, and engage deeply with the content. The interactive nature of the session enabled participants to apply theoretical concepts in real-time, engage in meaningful and productive discussions, and practice their newly acquired skills within a supportive and collaborative environment.

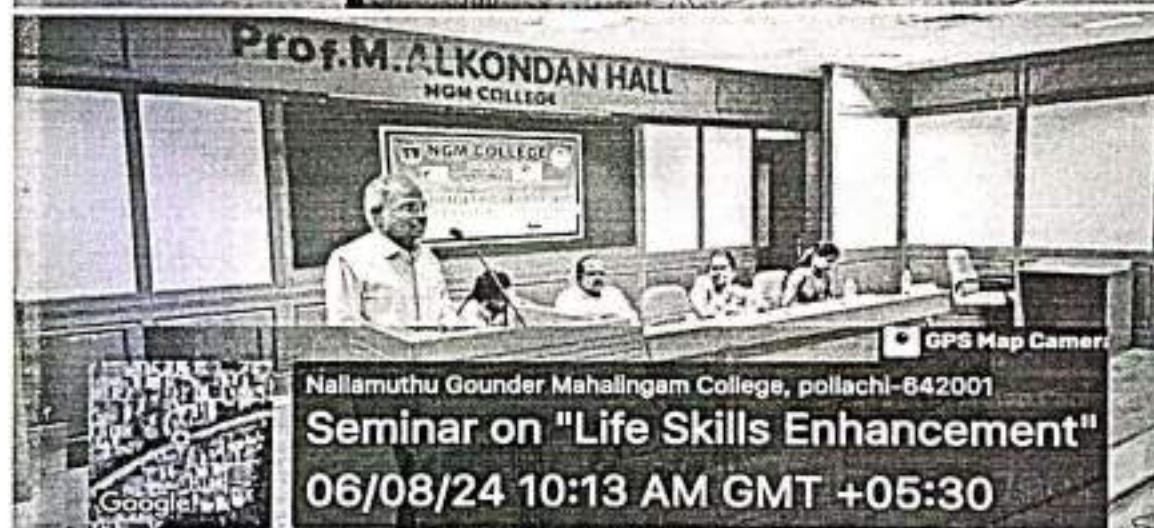

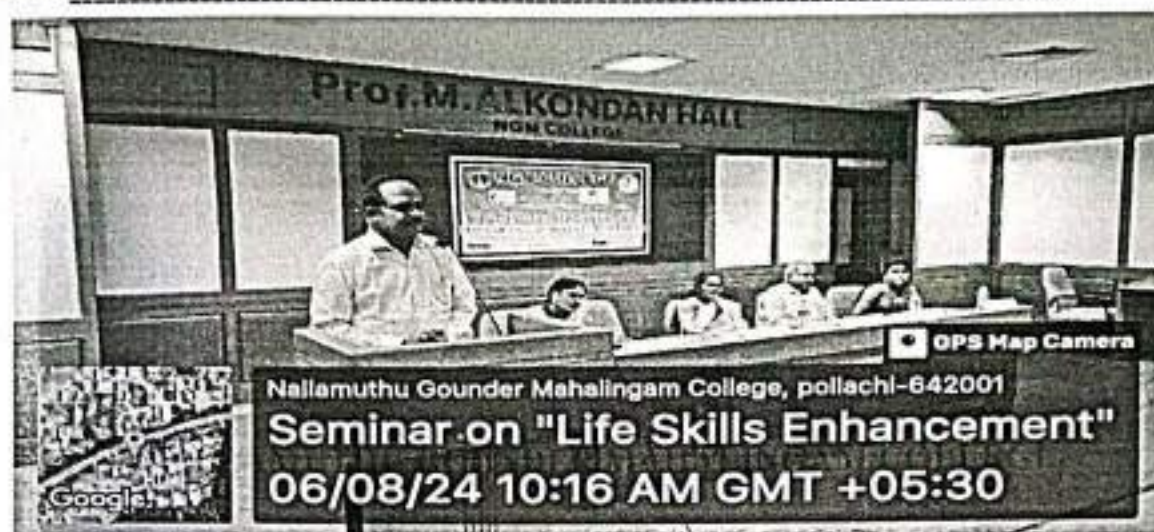

The central aim of the session was to arm students with practical tools and methods vital for making effective decisions, managing stress, and adapting to change. Through a blend of engaging activities and a strong emphasis on voluntary participation and interactive learning, the session successfully equipped students with the skills and confidence required to navigate life's challenges with enhanced resilience and self-awareness. This well-rounded approach ensured that students left with a solid skill set to support them in various facets of their personal and professional lives.
